Town debt Feb. 15, 1912	21,648 43
	<hr/>
Reduction of debt	$1,149 70

Although we can report only a small reduction in the town debt the past year, we feel that small favors are thankfully received. We are carrying over more money than was our intention, but it was paid to the Treasurer too late to make other disposition of.

The highways have been quite an expense owing to the fact that many repairs had to be made before the frost was out of the ground in the spring.

The new steel bridge on Epping street, bought last year, was put in, completed and paid for in June, 1911, but was a little more expense than was planned for, more grading and iron railing being necessary.

What has been done is well done, and this bridge as it now stands, will probably never be any more expense to the town.

STATE ROAD JOINT FUND MONEY.

The Selectmen thought best to keep the money in town, so employed all local help, and by so doing we not only built what was laid out by the State Engineer, but twelve hundred feet more in distance. The only thing lacking was a road roller, which we hope the town will think it advisable to purchase this coming season. And we would recommend that hereafter we employ our own townspéople, and keep the money in town, instead of sending it out of the state, and out of the country.

GEORGE W. PURINTON, Town Clerk.

Report of Water Commissioners.

There have been added during the year five new service pipes, which has increased the use of the water quite a little.

The main was extended on Fremont street, so as to supply the new houses erected on that street.

The roof on the boiler house has been newly covered with heavy roofing, and warranted for ten years. The roofing on the shop was given a coating of asphaltum paint and warranted for six years.

The wells were gone over and cleaned, and again put in good condition.

This fall it was found that the shop was leaning towards the south, and the walls were spreading. We have had it righted, the foundation repaired, and had the frame braced through the whole three stories and basement; there were put in beside the bracing thirteen $1\frac{1}{4}$ " iron rods, with two turn buckles on each, which we believe makes the building perfectly secure.

The collections from water takers were again over $2,000, and other conditions are about as usual.

In justice to all parties, we wish to call attention to the fact that Chase, Chamberlain & Co., have made many additions and improvements at the factory at their own expense during the last two years, building new coal shed, remodelling the office, relaying floors, installing electric lights, new iron fire escape, etc. They have been working the factory this winter to its full capacity, and have been obliged to turn away orders on account of not having room to make them. If any of our tax payers are interested to see what is being done at the factory, if they will visit the office of Chase, Chamberlain & Co., we assure them they will be treated courteously, and shown through the different departments.

Respectfully submitted,

LEWIS E. GRIFFIN,

CARL J. WHITING,

Report of School Board.

To the Citizens of Raymond:

We beg leave to report another successful school year.

Our teachers have averaged better than ever before. The parents have entered fewer complaints. The pupils have worked well, and no question of discipline has been brought before the School Board.

We have been able to carry over a larger balance than last year, despite the fact that many bills were left unpaid last year, viz.: Candia tuition, a large fuel bill, High School tuition, the Superintendent's, and several book bills.

We would strongly recommend that the district avail itself of the state aid law of 1909, and raise the amount necessary to obtain state aid.

We request that the Selectmen assess the amounts recommended by the Superintendent to meet statutory obligations, viz.:

For free text books	$100 00

High School tuition.....	300 00

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the Honorable School Board of Raymond:

For five years I have labored with the school children of Raymond, and have come to take a personal interest in each one. Their successes are mine, and their failures are also mine.

There is no duty within the power of a municipality so important and far-reaching as the education of our children; for the industrial, political and social life of the community will be in their keeping to-morrow. And much of the success of the town will depend upon the kind of training that we are giving them now.

From the beginning of civilization it has been the custom to tell what our ancestors used to do in everything, especially in education. Wendell Phillips, in an address delivered at Plymouth Rock, began thus: "To be as good as our fathers we must be better, if we do not go ahead we go backwards."

The average person, in speaking of the education of yesterday in comparison with that of to-day, forgets several important facts. He forgets that children are leaving the elementary school at a much younger age than they did thirty years ago. The boys and girls of that time attended the common schools till the age of twenty-one. Is it any wonder that they could work mathematical puzzles, and analyze difficult English sentences? They were men and women with mature minds, and these two branches received their entire attention; and even at that they could not express themselves, either in spoken or written language as well as our fourteen-year-old Grammar School graduate. Almost any man can tear a house down; but it takes a skilled mechanic to build one. These young men could tear a sentence to pieces; but they could not write a letter in good, forcible, concise language. With the then demands of professional life they could afford to spend fifteen years on these branches; but if it were done to-day they would reach middle life before they could begin the practice of law or medicine.

Localism has ceased to exist. Every section of the country is a neighbor to every other section; the same conditions prevail everywhere. The shoe factory here in Raymond must turn out a product that will sell all over the world. Just so the product of our schools must be the same as that of Boston, New York and Chicago. There is a standard set in these matters, and we must keep up to it, no matter what any individual may think of the merits or demerits of that product.

Aside from the actual education, there is always a certain amount of criticism of the expenditures. Here again people forget that a teacher, no more than anyone else, can live on the income of thirty years ago. Board alone costs more to-day than was formerly paid for a teacher in this district. If we are to maintain roads, schools, or any other public service, we will be obliged to pay more every year.

The question of attendance is still somewhat bothersome. The ability of certain parents to invent excuses why their children do not attend regularly is wonderful. During the winter months a favorite excuse is the condition of the roads, claiming that walking to school through the snow endangers their health. And yet when the roads are in perfect condition, those same children walk in the gutter and fields, roll in the snow with impunity. Any person can see their imprint in the snow beside the roads frequented by school children.

The school at Freetown has had the best percent. of attendance during the last three years, and most of these children are small, and their homes are quite remote from the school house; but in spite of this the death rate has not been alarming in that locality.

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS.

I would recommend that the following sums be requested from the Selectmen to meet the statutory obligations:

For free text books	$100 00
Scholars' supplies.....	75 00
High School tuition.....	300 00
Flags	10 00
Total	$485 00

In closing I wish to thank all concerned for their support and aid.

Respectfully submitted,

C. E. BAKER,

Superintendent of Schools.
